A post office sorte4r came across a letter addressed simply "god,heaven".He opened it and found a letter from a 75-year-old widow saying: "dear god, you are my last hope; I have an electricity bill for €96 which I cannot pay. Can you help?"

The sorter was touched by the woman's letter addressed simply "god, heaven". He opened it and found a letter from a 75-year-old widow saying: "dear god, you are my last hope; I have an electricity bill for €96 which I cannot pay. Can you help?"

The sorter was touched by the woman's letter and showed it to his colleagues. They had a whip around and raised €90. He put it in an envelope and sent it off to the woman anonymously.

A week later another letter arrived addressed "god, heaven". The sorter opened it. It was a thank you note from the widow saying that she had received €90. "As you know", the letter went on, "the bill was for €96, but I suppose those thieving so-and-so's in the post office pinched €6 out of the letter."
